

FAUST RENDERED IN GRAND OPERA

At Elks Opera House Last Night By the Lambardi
Company.

There was delivered last night upon the opera house stage, the greatest plea for the cause of righteousness that ever sprang from an uninspired man—the adaptation of Goethe's immortal "Faust" to the equally immortal opera of Gounod. There has probably never existed a sinner, honest man living in a country the laws of which are based upon the law of God, who in his innermost conscience, does not admit the evils that follow in the way of the devil. We carelessly concede the fact, but when we see the flesh and blood enactment, as we did last night, the truth is driven home with awful conviction.

"Faust," who for youth and pleasure and wealth, entered into a compact with the devil, literally sold himself, spreads devastation and death all along his path, and in the end, when his sorrows return upon him, he is forsaken by the devil who led him on. No one could witness the scene at the chapel door without a vivid understanding of the inward struggle, the visible enactment of which took place upon the stage. Marquise endeavoring to do what her better part counseled, and the devil opposing.

The finest piece of acting, undoubtedly, was the scene at the chapel door, in the presence of such work a difference of language is a matter of small moment. Another very impressive scene took place in the first act, where Mephisto laughs at the steel of his enemies, but shrinks and cowers before the presented crosses upon their sword hilts.

Of course, Lambardi, playing the part of Mephisto, was the central figure of the evening, and completely captivated the audience not only by his magnificent voice, but by his perfect stage deportment. His solo in the first act seemed to meet with greatest favor. Sna, Nuner, as Marguerite, sang with a voice of silvery bell-like quality. As was appropriate to her part, she sang with very little animation or energy. One of her most effective numbers was her monologue in the prison scene. Sna, Milton, as Siebel, Salvaneschi, as Faust, and Verradelli, as Wagner, the brother of Marguerite, all did well, but in the presence of greater lights failed to distinguish themselves.

The attendance at the performances of "Il Trovatore" and "Faust" were entirely satisfactory to both Manager Matson of the Elks' opera house, and Mr. Lambardi, and the attendance, as a comparison to that recorded the opera company at El Paso, speaks very well for Albuquerque, when playing high class attractions.

NOT MUCH DOING IN FOOT BALL

The calendar doesn't hold much for the Albuquerque foot ball enthusiasts. One game is about all that can be counted on, and this is a little battle to be fought out on the local gridiron on Thanksgiving between the Varsity and the Agricultural & Mechanical Farmers. So far the Albuquerque Athletic association has been unable to secure a game. The El Paso city team is not game this year and judging from the fact that the Farmers were able to beat them, they are probably very not to accept a game with the locals. The Varsity team is too light to go against the city chosen and unless the Farmers can be induced to give battle, it looks as though the calendar would be a blank throughout the season. Challenges for the city team should any one care to make one, should be directed to Frank J. Houston.

CONSTABLE TAKES UP MAN WHO THREATENED WOMAN

Constable F. F. Garcia answered a hurry call in Dog Town last night at the instance of some native women there who declared Clelio Chaves was drunk and threatened them bodily harm. The constable took Chaves to the city jail this morning. Judge Crawford gave him ten days or ten dollars. Chaves said he could get the money.

ELKS' OPERA HOUSE

DOUGLAS IS DIS- CUSSED BY BRYAN

"It's a Place Where People Do Things and Get Rich,"
He Says.

Attorney R. W. D. Bryan, Albuquerque's representative at the recent international convention of the Y. M. C. A. at Douglas, talked interestingly to a reporter for The Evening Citizen. Mr. Bryan, who returned Sunday, was visited yesterday by the three international secretaries, F. S. Goodman, New York; Bruno Hobbs, Denver, and J. D. McDill, Chicago. Mr. McDill is the international railroad secretary and his work is therefore confined almost exclusively among railroad employees. The gentlemen were cast on No. 2 yesterday after spending several hours here.

"We had a great time at Douglas," said Mr. Bryan, taking up the matter of his visit to the young Arizona city, which he added, confidently expects to double its population of 6,000 people within the next five years. "They took all the Y. M. C. A. visitors about the town and showed us everything. They are an optimistic lot down in Douglas," he went on. "The city is on a boom, one of the biggest ones in its history and it has been soaring ever since the smelters were placed there."

"Douglas is built right out on a mesa and the city is so young it has no trees but this don't bother them any over in Douglas. They went to work and planted trees. The people are too busy to watch them grow but they are driving all right and some day Douglas will have as pretty shaded parks and streets as any city in the southwest."

City Owes $75,000.
"Douglas only owes $75,000. This is bonded indebtedness. They needed the money to build a sewer system and having all the other modern facilities and conveniences such as electric lights, waterworks, macadamized streets, electric street railway and gas, when the sewer system is completed, they feel they will about have it all."

"There are pretty homes in Douglas and most of the houses are modern. The city boasts of good hotels, churches, a public library, banks, a Y. M. C. A. building and other structures that are an ornament to the town."

"The two big smelters of course keep up the place and I want to say right here that it is certainly well kept."

"The smelters down there make $25,000 a day. Just figure it out yourself. They put out an average of 140 tons of metal bullion per day."

"The bullion, which is 90 per cent pure, contains mostly copper but there are distinct traces of gold and silver. The cost of mining, smelting, transporting and refining the metal is considerable but the company manages to clear 12 cents a pound net on every pound produced. And the best part of it is they had enough ore blocked out to run the smelters for twenty-five years before they ever built them."

"They could run the mines and smelters at a profit when copper was selling at 12 cents but now it has come to twenty, so you see Douglas is a money making center."

"The famous Copper Queen is the principal mine at Douglas and it has made fortunes for its owners and will make several more, but there are other mines in that part of Arizona that are paying well. In fact, Douglas is situated in a rich mining country. It is just across the border from the state of Sonora in Mexico, you know, and that is one of the richest countries in the world in mineral wealth."

How They Do Things.
"While Douglas is what might be called a 'company town' it is in the hands of one of the best of companies. They do things down there."

"For instance, the Phelps-Dodge people wanted the Southern Pacific to grant them certain concessions in the matter of cheaper freight rates. The Southern Pacific could not possibly grant the concessions and make any kind of profit, they were informed. 'If that's the case I suppose we will have to build a line of our own,' was the reply of the company."

"The idea was not taken seriously by the dominant railroad until the Phelps-Dodge people began to get busy and sprang the El Paso & Southern western deal."

"But the Phelps-Dodge railroad ventures did not stop here. They needed coke for their smelting and failure to secure the fuel shipments at a freight rate which the company

WM. J. OLIVER IS PROMOTED

FROM ASSISTANT AT ALBUQUERQUE TO SUPERINTENDENT AND GENERAL DISBURSING AGENT AT ZUNI.

The many friends of William J. Oliver, for the past eight years identified with the management of the United States Indian school here will regret to learn that he leaves Albuquerque today for permanent activity in another field.

Mr. Oliver first came here to take up the position of teacher of industrial arts and his steadfastness and ability soon won promotion for him and after one year as teacher he was made chief clerk. Four years afterward he was appointed assistant superintendent of the Albuquerque institution and now comes another well deserved advancement in the form of an appointment as superintendent and general disbursing agent for the Zuni tribe at Black Rock, N. M.

Two years after taking up his residence here Mr. Oliver married Miss Elita Vaughn, daughter of Charles Vaughn of the Wells Fargo company and his four children were all born here. The departure of the family will leave a vacancy in the social circle here, only partly compensated for by the knowledge of their friends, that their going means substantial improvement in Mr. Oliver's material affairs.

ROSWELL MAN HIS OWN EXECUTIONER

CRAZED BY DRINK MARION PAVEY CUTS HIS WRIST WITH RAZOR AND BLEEDS TO DEATH.

Old King Alcohol claimed another victim last Saturday in the person of Marion Pavey of Roswell, who, after paying his respects to the liquor habit in a lengthy letter, cut his wrist with a razor and bled to death.

Pavey when sober was an industrious laboring man. He had a family consisting of a wife and seven children and was the owner of a home on Washington avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets. For some time he had been in failing health, to which was added the unpleasantness of a family separation, his wife and six children having left him and gone to Texas. The seventh child, a grown son, was also an absentee from the home, being employed at Cloudcroft, N. M.

After the departure of his wife Pavey rented their residence and retired to a little shack which stood in the back yard. Here he was found dead by his brother-in-law, Hugh Grindstaff, who had left him only a short time before engaged in writing the letter referred to above. The coroner's jury rendered a simple verdict of suicide.

COURSES OF STUDY.

The following courses of study will be offered this year by Dr. Jacob H. Kaplan, rabbi of congregation Albert, beginning Tuesday evening, November 6, 1906.

1. Psychology and psychic culture. This is a beginner's course in mind-processes and how to train them.

2. Jewish literature. This is an interesting and instructive course in Jewish literature from the close of the Bible to the present time.

3. Lectures on the "Origins, Contents and Aim of the Prophetic Books of the Bible." No text books required.

4. A course in Hebrew. This will include reading and translation of Genesis with critical exegesis.

The above courses are open and free to everybody. Register Tuesday evening, November 6 at 7:30 o'clock, in the vestry rooms of Temple Albert, corner of West Gold avenue and Seventh street.

Time for meeting will be arranged to suit the members of each class.

Heating apparatus has been installed in the Casino and a good troop will present "Snob's" stag party" there Thursday evening.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR THE CONVICTS

OLD STRIPES BEING ABOLISHED RAPIDLY AND RATHER NATTY CLOTHING SUBSTITUTED.

Captain Arthur Trilford, superintendent of the New Mexico penitentiary has begun the introduction of uniforms in the territorial prison, with the result that some of the convicts might be mistaken for members of the mounted police force, from the standpoint of clothing. The old "stripes" are to be entirely eliminated as fast as the clothing is worn out. The new prison clothing is of a light bluish gray, in color, substantially made, and well fitting. It is similar to that in use in many of the larger penal institutions of this country, and in England. The finger print method of identification, which in the United States is a comparatively new feature, will likely be placed in use in the New Mexico prison in the near future. By this method an impression of the palm of each convict is taken and it is said that it is impossible for a man, thus recorded, to escape identification if again arrested for any offense.

DIDRON STRUCK BY BLUNT INSTRUMENT

HE DECLARES UNKNOWN MAN INFLECTS WOUND WITH BIG GUN.

D. F. Didron, who rooms at the Los Angeles rooming house, 312 South Third street, was struck over the right eye with some blunt instrument in the New York saloon last night shortly after 11 o'clock. The blow inflicted a gash about an inch long. Didron told Assistant Chief of Police Kennedy, who arrived at the saloon within five minutes after the occurrence, that two unknown men entered the saloon where he was tending bar during the absence of Pete Zito, proprietor of the place. One of the men, he said, went out after they had some drinks and the other shoved a big gun in his face and ordered him to throw up his hands.

"When I refused to do this," Didron said, "he struck me with the gun. Then I came around from behind the bar and grappled with him. He escaped out the front door."

When Assistant Chief Kennedy arrived on the scene there was blood in front of the bar and blood on the front pavement. There were no eye-witnesses to the affair. Why the blood was in front of the bar when Didron is supposed to have been behind it when he was struck, is a puzzling circumstance in connection.

There was about $15 in the cash register. Didron is said to have been intoxicated.

NIGHTMARE'S TIMELY HALLOWEEN SUGGESTION

OBJECTS TO GRAVEYARD GROANS FROM THE NIGHT SWITCH ENGINE.

To The Evening Citizen:
Say, suppose we take a lay-off in strenuous politics long enough to mob that switch engine that parambulates the Santa Fe yards nightly uttering its horrible graveyard groans.

That noise would indeed "wake the echoes from their lairs and terrify the grizzly bears."

There are several ways we might get rid of it; we might march our candidates down there in a body and have them "groan" it, we might beguile the engineer and fireman to run it out on the prairie and blow it up with dynamite; we might raise a subscription and buy a new one for the almost bankrupt Santa Fe company, we might—oh, well, let's get rid of it tonight—Hallowe'en.

NEW TIME CARD GOES ON SUNDAY

The new winter time card of the Santa Fe, which will go into effect next Sunday, will have trains arriving and departing from the local station as follows:

No.	Arrive.	Depart.
No. 1	7:45 pm.	8:20 pm.
No. 8	8:45 pm.	7:45 pm.
No. 7	10:55 pm.	12:45 am.
No. 9	11:45 pm.	12:20 am.
No. 3	11:35 am.	12:35 pm.
No. 4	11:55 pm.	12:35 am.
No. 2	7:55 am.	8:25 am.
No. 10	6:30 am.	7:00 am.

It will be noted that trains Nos. 22 and 27, are replaced by Nos. 9 and 10 the same as last year, and that No. 19 will leave the local station at the early hour of 7 o'clock. This train will do all the local work between Albuquerque and Dodge City.

Passengers caring to make intermediate points, other than the most important cities en route, will have to ride on it. No. 2 will do no local work between Albuquerque and Dodge City.

It will also be noted that the limited No. 3 will stop at the local station an hour, which is a remarkable change in the time card. These are the only changes of consequence.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR FOLKS CONVE

MANY DELEGATES FROM ALL PARTS OF TERRITORY MEET PROMINENT VISITORS FROM EAST, IN CAPITAL CITY CONVENTION.

The biennial convention of the New Mexico Christian Endeavor Union was held yesterday in the First Presbyterian church of Santa Fe. Delegates were in attendance from all portions of the territory and an interesting and profitable meeting was held.

Among the visitors present was William Shaw of Boston, one of the most prominent Christian Endeavor workers in the world, and the present treasurer of the united societies. Mr. Shaw delivered an address before the afternoon session previous to which he made a short talk to the prisoners at the territorial penitentiary.

The convention was called to order at 9:30 o'clock by J. E. Wood, the field secretary and also chairman of the local entertainment committee and the opening devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. John R. Saxe at Albuquerque. Reports of officers and committees, elections of new officers, addresses on various important subjects and a general reception to delegates and visitors made up the program of the day. A feature of the convention was an address during the evening session by Rev. W. W. Harts of Albuquerque, on the subject, "The Church of Christ Versus the Saloon." The same gentleman also spoke in the morning on "Young People's Societies and the Temperance Cause."
